RULES OF ENGAGEMENT

1. Delegates should, where possible, pose any questions via the Q&A (NOT Chat) function at the bottom of their screens
2. At the end of each session, the speaker will answer the questions posed - the host will unmute questioning delegates at this point
3. If anyone has a burning question/comment mid-session, they can 'raise their hand' and the host will then interrupt the speaker and invite the question
4. Mid-session Q&A will become part of the session recording and then shared with members post-event
5. Post-session Q&A will not be recorded/shared

INTRODUCTION & VISION

For some 30 years I have believed that biometrics were the future. Smartex even operated a Biometric Foundation but there were too few believers.

But times have changed. Biometrics are pervading many government and commercial activities – most benign but some not.

Recently, I discovered that Alan Goode of Goode Intelligence shared my views and understood biometric technology very well. We decided to establish a new forum – the IBF – under a company incorporated for that purpose, and to invite all types of stakeholders to join it as members, to learn, network and profit from the emergence of this smart technology. We are launching this today.
